-Lest We Forget-

"The Centenary of Anzac 2014 to 2018" is Australia's most important period of national commemoration. Marking 100 years since our involvement in the First World War, the Anzac Centenary is a time to honour the service and sacrifice of our original ANZACs, and the generations of Australian servicemen and women who have defended our values and freedoms, in wars, conflicts and peace operations throughout a Century of Service. Students from St Stephen's gathered at the college on Monday 23 April and at other locations on the Tablelands on Anzac Day to pay tribute to those who have served in past and present conflicts. Pictured, from left to right: Joshua Kievit (College Captain), Gabriella Cuda (College Captain), Elena Pilat (College Captain), Major Francois Nozaic, Mrs Ida Pinese (Principal) and David Bin (College Captain). FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents and Friends of St Stephen's

"Culture is what people do when no one is looking."
(Herb Kelleher, Chairman Southwest Airlines)

Welcome to term two! The culture of a school plays a significant role in driving performance, which in turn, drives results. This culture permeates every aspect of school life, from the academic pursuits to the sporting triumphs, to the way students show respect to themselves and others and understand and appreciate what it means to be a student of St Stephen's.

At the commencement of term two, the running of the Inter-House Cross Country race demonstrated the positive culture of St Stephen's where students are expected to do their personal best. Congratulations to all students who participated, either as walkers earning participation points for their pastoral house, or as competitive runners. This culture was also reflected in the interim reports which I reviewed and which you should have received over the holiday break. While there are some students who struggled to devote the required effort to their studies, the majority of comments reflected a strong work ethic and corresponding positive behaviour.

An integral part of the St Stephen's culture is the embracing of the Gospel values where students treat each other with respect, acknowledging that we are all children of God whose differences should be celebrated. Unfortunately, there is a small group of students who do not appreciate this sentiment and whose behaviour affects the lives of others in a detrimental way. I am referring to bullying, whether it is a face to face confrontation or through the abuse of social media. The college has a zero tolerance on this type of behaviour and takes steps to address the matter when it is reported. I urge all students not to condone bullying by standing by and allowing it to happen to their peers. It takes courage to speak up, but this is the type of culture that we are striving to develop. Parents can also assist by monitoring their child's usage of social media at home, so that issues are not carried over to the school, thus affecting students' learning.

Service to others is another aspect of the St Stephen's culture that the college is striving to foster. I congratulate all home forms for their generosity in donating funds to Caritas, the social justice arm of the Catholic Church. This service is not restricted to fund raising—it also means giving one's time for a worthy cause or to honour those who have come before us. Not only do our College Leaders deserve to be commended for their attendance at Anzac Day commemoration services, but also those students who marched at Dimbulah, Mareeba, Atherton and other Tableland towns as representatives of St Stephen's are to be acknowledged. I also thank the Anzac Day Committee at St Stephen's for the reverent and moving service which was held at our college on 23 April.

Our college staff also reflect our culture in their approach to their vocation. Schools are dynamic places where no one day is the same. On occasion, there are staff changes due to sickness, leave or other emergencies. One of our senior teachers, Mrs Sue Donovan, has taken medical leave for term two and we wish her a speedy recovery. For family reasons, Mr Greg Thorpe is relocating to a school closer to his place of residence and will finish his time with St Stephens's on 26 April. He will be replaced by Mrs Shelley Hunt, a very experienced teacher who has spent several years teaching at international schools overseas. I thank Mr Thorpe for his contribution to our college in term one. At all times, we have the well-being of students as our moral imperative, so changes to classes and timetables are carried out with much thought.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

I am constantly grateful for the generosity of our staff who readily volunteer to fill the gaps when such changes occur. The collegial support they provide to each other is one of our strengths as a college.

I look forward to a rewarding term two and value constructive feedback from all stakeholders so that we can improve our practices.

With Trust in the Lord

Mrs Ida Pinese | Principal

LIONS YOUTH OF THE YEAR EXPERIENCE - DAVID BIN

On Saturday 14 April, I was fortunate enough to compete in Rockhampton at the State Finals of the 2018 Lions Youth of the Year. Overall it has been a truly remarkable experience. The competition process included an interview with a judging panel, two impromptu speeches and a five minute prepared speech.

The interview and impromptu questions were concerned with involvement within the community, as well as a wide range of social issues concerning Queensland, Australia and our global relations with other countries. My chosen topic for the prepared speech was "Overcoming Challenges". I competed against students from the Gold Coast, Brisbane and Central Queensland.

David Bin at the State Final

The Lions Youth of the Year program gave me the chance to express my personal opinions about a broad range of issues in front of over 150 people, an opportunity I am truly grateful for. Being able to also listen to the opinions of my fellow contestants provided me with a positive outlook for the future of our society. The experience has been extremely rewarding, as it has given me the confidence to be able to strive towards new achievements.

Since my first Lions Youth of the Year victory at the club judging level, the Mareeba Lions Club have been behind me all the way. I have been touched by the ongoing support they have dedicated to me. The club is an amazing group of people who give a lot of their time to the community. I would highly recommend anyone to give the program a go--it is brilliant.

I am extremely thankful for the support of Mrs Pinese and the St Stephen's College community throughout my journey. I appreciate the comments and letters of support; it has meant a great deal to me. I would like to wish Riley Clarke, the overall State winner, the best of luck for the National Finals.

David Bin
College Captain

FROM THE DEPUTY PRINCIPAL

Welcome back to term two. I hope that all families had a happy and safe Easter and were able to spend time with family over this special period. For students, this term is eleven weeks in duration and involves block exams for our seniors, commencing in week nine. It is important that students start the term well and reflect on their results from term one. Equally, it is important for students to set their goals early for term two and ask for feedback from their teachers so that strategies and processes can be implemented early to improve achievement levels.

Asking for targeted and specific feedback is important for the learning process to continue for students. Teachers are best placed to answer questions for students and identify areas that require improvement; however it is also the responsibility of the student to ask teachers what can be done better in the future, in order to achieve well in a particular subject or area of need. One significant part of feedback is the completion of drafts when working on assessment. A new drafting process has been established starting this term, where drafts will be made mandatory for all subjects across year seven to twelve. Teachers will be expecting to see work in progress from students over the assessment time, and it is preferable that encouragement comes from not only school but also home. One aspect to remember is that drafting can come in a variety of ways and this is particularly true for subjects that are more practical in nature. If students are unsure of the expectations of a draft, they must convey this to their subject teacher so as to meet all requirements of the task.

The main message however is that we need to see work in progress from students, and that it will be difficult for students to know where they are situated in the learning process if work is not submitted for feedback. By building a strong home-school partnership, the end result will be positive outcomes for students.

If you have any questions related to curriculum, please contact me by making an appointment with Mrs Rosie Rantucci and I wish everyone a great term two.

Mr Simon Vaughan
Deputy Principal

COMMONWEALTH GAMES - ELIZABETH BULST

During the recent Commonwealth Games held on the Gold Coast, I had the privilege of being part of the 15,000 strong volunteer workforce, better known as the Game Shapers. There were preliminary games of basketball held in Cairns and Townsville. I was part of the Sports Information Team at the Cairns Convention Centre and the Athletes Village at Rydges in Cairns. It was a tremendous opportunity to meet and work with other volunteers, as well as players, coaches and support staff from Nigeria, India, Malaysia, Canada, New Zealand, Jamaica and of course the Australian Boomers.

I gained an incredible insight into the logistics of how a team of basketball players manage training, game day and post-game recovery, first hand. If you have the opportunity to volunteer and be part of a sporting event like the Commonwealth Games, I would thoroughly recommend it, as it was an experience of a lifetime.

FROM THE MIDDLE LEADER - SCIENCE

In 2018, our UQ Science Ambassadors are helping to run our lunch time Science Club. For the first time, St Stephen's Catholic College has entered the UQ Sunflower Competition. Our sunflowers are nearly ready to bloom, and the head, or flower, must be harvested by 15 May.

This activity has demonstrated how different conditions can affect the growth of plants. Our competition flowers are not thriving as well as we hoped. They must be grown in a fourteen litre pot, and not have roots growing out of the pot. However, our sunflower patch (not for the competition) may soon rival the Redlynch sunflower field, and yes, we will be taking photos for anyone who wants one!

The photos show our ambassadors tending the competition flowers, and having fun in front of the patch.

Over the coming week, the top students in each year level will be invited to participate in ICAS Science - an independent, skills-based assessment program which recognises and rewards student achievement. Parents, if your student is invited, please encourage them to accept the invitation. There is no cost to the student, as the Science Department pays the fees. ICAS provides students with an opportunity to hone their exam skills, which may be advantageous when they come to sit for external exams in senior.

FROM THE MIDDLE LEADER - YEARS 11 AND 12

Welcome back to term two!

Our year twelve's have approximately twenty-five weeks of school left, give or take a few days here and there for public holidays and other school events. It can be both scary and exciting for them to think of how close they are to graduation. The important thing I like to remind our seniors is how quickly this time will fly by, so they need to make the most of the time they have left at St Stephen's to seize opportunities, achieve goals and make fond memories.

We finished last term with a truly unforgettable week. The retreat was definitely one I'll never forget. I have nothing but praise for our seniors. They were hesitant to embrace retreat with open arms at first, but they quickly opened their minds and hearts to the experience, and from what I've heard, they all loved their time away. Despite the rain, we really could not have asked for a better retreat, and seeing Tinaroo Dam finally back to its glory really contributed to the special atmosphere. I know I speak on behalf of all teachers who attended when I thank the year twelve's, not only for their exemplary behaviour, but also for the way in which they made the retreat a fun, emotional and rewarding time for all.

While there is plenty of learning to do and lots of assignments and exams this term, there are no major date claimers for the year twelve's until block exams and the athletics carnival at the end of term.

I know their attention is fast turning to their senior formal in term four, but with this social event so far away and it being only one night in what is a jam-packed year, I remind our seniors to stay focused on their priorities at this time, which should ultimately remain their school work and achieving their academic goals.

I wish the year twelve's a productive term!

Mrs Stacey Crockford
Middle Leader - Years 11 and 12
scrockford@sccc.qld.edu.au

FROM THE MIDDLE LEADER - YEARS 7 AND 8

Welcome back to term two. I hope that your family had time to enjoy the Easter break and that all students could rest and recharge over the holidays.

By now, you have received your child's interim report card and have had an opportunity to encourage them to look at setting and working towards attainable goals for term two and identify actions that may assist with further learning progress. In addition to your child-parent conversation, parent-teacher interviews last week, were a great opportunity to communicate with your child's teacher to hear how they were tracking academically, as well as with their behaviour and work ethic in class.

Communicating with your child's teacher isn't attending a one night parent-teacher interview but continuing to stay in touch throughout the year to create a positive two-way relationship by sending emails or adding comments in the SRB. Above all, remember that it's a three-way relationship between you, your child and the teacher to work together positively to help your child achieve their full potential.

Many students were involved in extra-curricular activities throughout terms one and two. Students have participated in the District swimming carnival, soccer and netball tournaments, and will be attending the District cross country this week. Thank you to the year eight students involved with Army Cadets, Combined School Band and the ANZAC Day ceremony in Mareeba or their local area.

It is essential that students make full use of the Student Record Book (SRB). This diary is helpful to everyone and important in the following ways:

- In the SRB, school rules, policies and procedures are included as well as tips for organisation and time management, how to manage stress, editing and study tips and goal setting.
- Parent to check and sign SRB each week.

The SRB in secondary school is one of the most important books that students need and it is vital that every child keeps all their information organised. If a student uses their SRB (diary) properly, they should be able to stay organised and have a less stressful year.

Have a great term two and please keep communicating.

Mrs Jayarani Salerno
Middle Leader - Years 7 and 8

CYBERBULLYING

Many parents and teachers are concerned about cyberbullying. It is a serious problem that can hurt young people, families and school communities. Cyberbullying is also a complex problem that is often invisible to parents and teachers. In February the Premier appointed a group of Queenslanders who are passionate about stopping cyberbullying of young people. The Queensland Anti-Cyberbullying Taskforce is chaired by well-known author and commentator, Madonna King, and includes members with knowledge and expertise in education, youth health and wellbeing, law, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, disability and families.

The Taskforce needs your help to develop a framework for Queensland to help reduce cyberbullying of young people. They want to hear from parents, carers, students, teachers and other experts in schools. In particular, the Taskforce wants to hear about your ideas to:

- prevent or reduce cyberbullying
- support people affected by cyberbullying of young people.

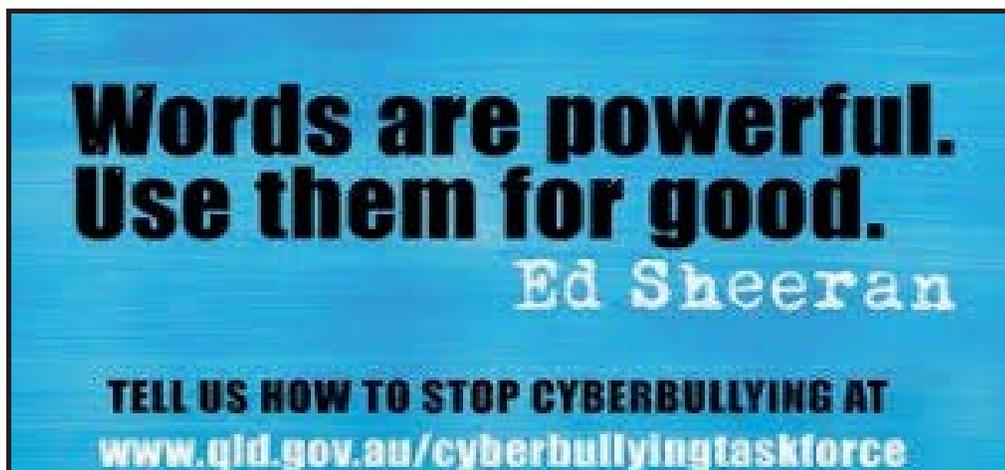

How to have your say

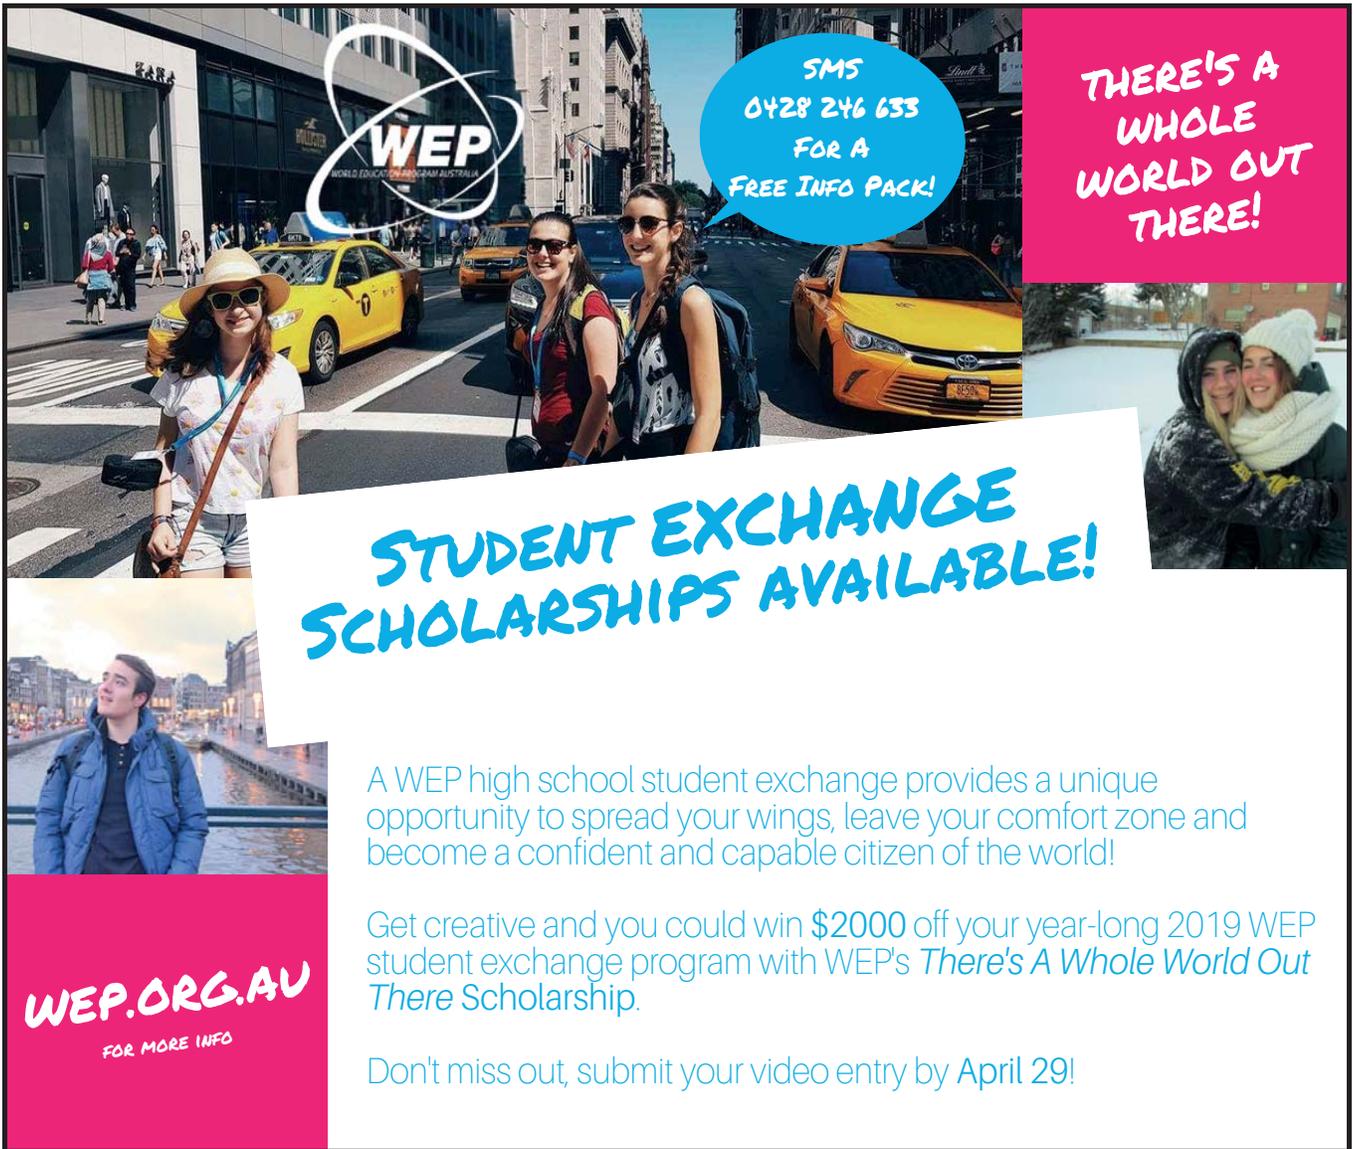

Email the Taskforce at antibullyingtaskforce@premiers.qld.gov.au

Upload your ideas as a submission on the Taskforce website: <https://qld.gov.au/cyberbullyingtaskforce>

Come to a public forum in twelve Queensland locations including Brisbane, Cairns, Rockhampton and Charleville.
