FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents and Friends of St Stephen's

“An individual has not started living until he can rise above the narrow confines of his individualistic concerns to the broader concerns of all humanity.”

Martin Luther King, Jr.

A sense of community and service to others are an integral part of the St Stephen's culture and a legacy from the foundation days of the college. In the events that students have experienced or are about to experience, none would have been possible without the dedicated band of educators and parents that comprise the St Stephen's community.

Never was community spirit more evident than on St Stephen's Day which was celebrated on the last day of term three. Students demonstrated reverence for the mass, enthusiasm and talent for the cultural performances, entrepreneurship at the mini-fete and great sportsmanship at the legendary teachers versus year twelve netball game. Those who attended had an amazing day and I extend my gratitude to the staff and students for their positive engagement and hard work.

Despite a challenging term, twenty-four students and four teachers turned up the very next day to travel to New Zealand for ten days. Not only did everyone have an enjoyable time, but positive relationships were fostered and our students were complimented on their conduct and responsible citizenship, whilst overseas.

On a more academic note, the year seven Opti-MINDS team travelled to Brisbane for the state titles, where students' exceptional performance resulted in the team winning the Literature and Language category. The year seven and eight Mathematics Quiz team members are also honing their skills for the state competition, as is the chess team, while their sporting counterparts in the futsal team are also gearing up for the state titles.

It would be remiss not to mention the year twelve formal—an event for which students had been preparing for many months and at which all had an amazing time, dancing and socialising with their peers and families.

All of the above-mentioned events would not be possible without the dedication of our community of teachers, students and parents working together. While many of these events are extra-curricular, it is important to remember that the core business of any school is teaching and learning. Our year twelve students, in particular, have only four and half weeks to graduation. They need to focus on the end goal and maintain their motivation up until the very end. Attendance is compulsory until Friday 16 November when students graduate at a special evening mass, after being farewelled by the college community at a whole school assembly during the day.

For the remainder of the college, attendance is also a requirement until 3.00 pm on Friday 30 November. All students will undergo testing until 3.00 pm on this day. Failure to be in attendance will seriously jeopardise a student's final report and may also influence class allocations for 2019. The only day on which students are legitimately permitted to remain at home is Monday 22 October when our teachers are involved in the moderation of year twelve work and other professional development. I sincerely thank parents for making alternative arrangements on this day.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

As a community, celebration of student success is a great occasion. The annual Awards Night on Tuesday 30 October is one such event. Information about this evening will be communicated to all families in the next few days and I thank families who are able to join us on this evening.

Schools are counter cultural and emphasise the importance of considering the group's welfare. If we can develop in our students the need to go beyond one's individual wants to embrace the concerns of all humanity, we are closer to achieving a society that is more equitable, that has a responsible stewardship of the environment and a more humane attitude to the plight of those who are marginalised.

With Trust in the Lord

FROM THE DEPUTY PRINCIPAL

It is amazing how fast a year goes and we are now just a few weeks away from seeing our year twelve students graduate from the college. As term four is just eight weeks, it is important that students attend to their study plans and prepare accordingly for upcoming assessment. Increasingly, we are experiencing issues with late submissions of drafts and final pieces due to students not knowing due dates or not being prepared for their submissions. Assessment calendars are produced by the end of week two for every term. These documents are published on the school's website and a hard copy given to all students. These documents are produced in a way that is clear and can be utilised as a study planner. There should be no excuses for students to miss assessment deadlines for not knowing a due date. At all times, it is the student's responsibility to adhere to the conditions of the task and submission guidelines.

This term will also see a number of assessment related events occurring. Year twelve students will sit their final set of block exams, beginning on Tuesday 6 November and running until Friday 9 November. A letter will be sent home along with the schedule for the exams in the coming weeks. This will lead into the final week for the year twelves, which will be a very exciting time for them. Year eleven students will have block exams commencing on the Monday 26 November running until Friday 30 November. Again students will be notified of the schedule over the coming weeks.

The 2019 timetable is starting to take shape and students in years eight, nine and ten will be notified later this term on what preferences they have for 2019. Due to the amount of interest and also operational requirements of the school, not all subjects that were offered will be operating for 2019. Students who need to make other choices will be notified and will have a meeting with myself to discuss options for subjects next year. Although this can often be hard for students, particularly as some subjects may be a passion for them, it is important to note that their subsequent choices could be a potential pathway for the future.

I wish all students a fantastic term four and great success in their studies as we close in on Christmas holidays. As usual if you have any curriculum related questions, please do not hesitate to contact Mrs Rantucci to organise a meeting time.

Mr Simon Vaughan | Deputy Principal

FROM THE MIDDLE LEADER - SOCIAL SCIENCE

The Social Science Department will continue to provide opportunities for our students throughout term four. Though a shorter term and one that is always busy, we are still seeking experiences to make the learning interesting and informed by aspects of the community in which we live.

Year eleven Geography students will take to the field this week to test the health of the Basalt Creek sub-catchment. The creek, which runs from near Costin Street through the Bicentennial Lakes Park to Granite Creek, will be assessed for its stream and habitat condition, biological health and physio-chemical indicators. Students are using the data they collected to write a report. It will be an important investigation into the connections of people and place in an appropriately scaled context. It is hardly an exotic experience, but it is always one that helps students appreciate the community and environment they are a part of.

Two officers from the Queensland Parliamentary Education Team will visit our year ten Humanities students on the 24 October, to deliver regional education activities. The experience will provide insight into the role of Parliament and serve as an introductory activity for year ten students who may be enrolled for year eleven Legal Studies next year.

OPTI-MINDS CHALLENGE

Last weekend four of our students represented the Cairns Region at the Opti-MINDS State Finals in Brisbane. It was a wonderful weekend designed to challenge the students' creativity. Our team competed against the twelve other regional Opti-MINDS representative teams. On Saturday, each team presented an idea which they believed will change the future. On Sunday, the students solved a spontaneous challenge and a long term challenge. Our team were amazingly creative and came first for their division in the Language Literature category in Queensland. Congratulations to Abigail Garate, Mia McNeill, Amelia Morris and Lucy Perrett.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC PROGRAM

Part of our very active music program at St Stephen's Catholic College is the Instrumental Music Department. Instrumental music is an enrichment opportunity at St Stephen's which allows students to learn a musical instrument with a specialist instrumental teacher. Specialist lessons include band instruments (clarinet, flute, saxophone, trumpet, trombone), percussion (including drum set), guitar and piano. New to 2019 will be an expanded strings program which will include lessons in violin, viola, cello and double bass. Students who take instrumental music lessons access these during school time once a week. Lessons are individual or in small groups.

Students who engage in the instrumental music program at St Stephen's have many opportunities to expand their cultural and social/emotional learning, as they participate in combined ensembles and performances. Notably, our instrumental program includes a combined St Stephen's and St Thomas's band, which perform regularly at many school and community events.

Learning an instrument is an extremely beneficial experience for students. Not only does it positively affect brain function and develop skills such as concentration and fine motor movement, but music also has the power to positively impact students' emotional learning. Skills such as resilience, perseverance and commitment are enriched, and students can often find music practice a helpful stress release mechanism. Students can also engage with other like-minded peers through group ensemble participation, and this can help their social/emotional growth.

St Stephen's Catholic College Instrumental Music Department is now taking enrolments for 2019. We encourage parents to review the attached information about the program and consider enrolling their child for the new school year. No prior musical experience is required as the program is tailored to each student. We encourage students seeking more information to contact the music team at St Stephen's - Mrs Raggett, Ms Kitchiner, Miss Sugars or Mrs Livingstone.

Looking forward to seeing lots of new and familiar faces in 2019!
