FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents and Friends of St Stephen's

"We all need resilience to live a fulfilling life. With resilience, you'll be able to take on challenges, to develop your talents, skills and abilities so that you can live with more purpose and more joy." (Eric Gretens)

With good intentions, parents may wish to protect their children from the ups and downs of life. However, a focus on resilience both in the school setting and at home will assist our students to overcome challenges and bounce back from inevitable disappointments which are part of everyday life. In the process of delivering the core business of schools, that is, teaching and learning, schools also play an important part in developing resilience in students.

The most recent visit by several of our students, Mrs Musch and Mr MacCallum to our sister school in Sano City, Japan, provided students with the opportunity to not only experience a different culture, but also to become more resilient. While host families extended great hospitality to our students, being placed in a different environment, where language may also have been a challenge, enabled our students to work out coping strategies which will stand them in good stead for the future. I congratulate our students on being excellent ambassadors for our college, town, region and nation and sincerely thank the accompanying teachers for their generosity in taking this group to Japan in their September break.

Another significant event for our seniors in the past week, was the senior formal. It was a wonderful occasion for families, staff and the year twelve students to celebrate the students' final year in a social setting. Without the great support from the Formal Committee, parents and the Year 12 Pastoral Leader, Mrs Crockford, this event would not have occurred. I hope that the teamwork skills developed during the planning process will benefit the students in their future endeavours, and that all students are grateful for the extensive amount of work carried out by the committee.

On the last day of term three, the college celebrated St Stephen's Day. For those who attended it was a very enjoyable event. I congratulate all students for their exemplary behaviour and engagement with activities on this day. It is disappointing, however, that there was a high level of absenteeism on this last day of term. The culture of St Stephen's values every day as an opportunity to learn and the last day of term is no exception. As evidenced by the beautiful mural that has just been completed in a quiet area of our college, service to others is the charism of our college. The funds raised by our mini-fete on St Stephen's Day will be distributed to the needy at Christmas time. When students enrol at our college, they agree to participate in all activities which are designed to develop them in a holistic way. In the twenty-first century, we need people with a variety of skills and the ability to work together for a common cause is one of them. I entreat parents to assist us in this regard by not taking early holidays before the end of term and not planning appointments in the last week of each term. In total, students have fourteen weeks of holidays each year and this should be sufficient time for non-school related activities.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

It is often unusual in the contemporary workplace to find employees who have been with the organisation for a considerable length of time. On Wednesday 11 October, we welcomed the Executive Director of Catholic Education Services, Mr Bill Dixon, to present awards to two long-serving members of Catholic Education in the Cairns Diocese, Mrs Tamara Schincariol and Mrs Françoise Nozaic who have clocked up twenty-five and twenty years of service, respectively. Congratulations to both these valued members of our staff for their loyalty to Catholic Education.

In keeping with the theme of strong attendance outlined above, I would like to remind parents and students that it is traditional at St Stephen's to conduct exams up until the last day of school on 24 November. Therefore, I ask all parents to support this practice by ensuring their children are in attendance up until 24 November. The finishing date for year twelve students is Friday 17 November at approximately 8.30 pm after the conclusion of the graduation ceremony at St Thomas' Church.

With such a short term, it is important that students are focusing on their studies and working hard to achieve their best possible results. While students' efforts are affirmed at whole school assemblies and year level meetings on a regular basis, the purpose of Awards Night on 25 October is to celebrate excellence in a variety of school contexts. More information about this event will be communicated as the date approaches.

I thank all parents for their support of the culture of St Stephen's. We strive to provide a nurturing environment for our students where they are expected to work hard to achieve their potential, and become more resilient in the process. Parental input in this process is greatly valued.

With Trust in the Lord

TOM COSIC ART

Last term, St Stephen's Catholic College commissioned local artist, Tom Cosic, to design a mural for the wall located in the MCR area. We are extremely delighted with the end result.

FROM THE DEPUTY PRINCIPAL - CURRICULUM

Planning for 2018 is well underway. In term three, students in years eight and nine were asked to submit subject preferences for elective subjects. These preferences have been collated, and the information used to construct subject lines within the college timetable, to accommodate the majority of preferences. Difficult decisions regarding the viability of running some courses, where student interest is low, have been made. Parents and students will receive notification shortly detailing the curriculum offerings for 2018, confirmation of student's selections, and an invitation to re-select subjects where preferences have not been met.

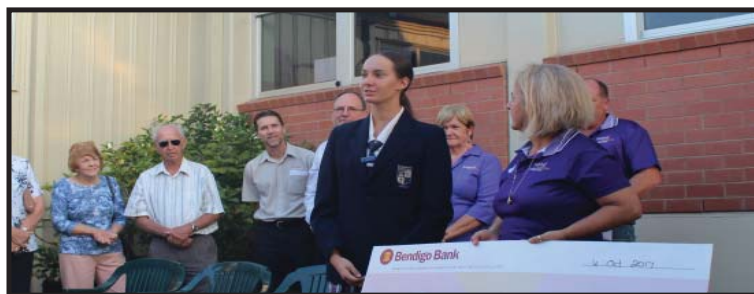

Year ten and eleven students interested in enrolling in a certificate course offered by an external Registered Training Organisation (RTO) in 2018, are encouraged to finalise applications as soon as possible to avoid disappointment. Course details are advertised regularly via daily notices and outside the VET Officer's room in S Block. Please contact Mrs Julie Goleby for further details.

For our year twelve students there will not be any reports prepared by St Stephen's. The Queensland Curriculum and Assessment Authority (QCAA) is responsible for issuing the year twelve results and these can be accessed online through the students' learning accounts on 16 December. Hard copies of tertiary entrance statements, senior statements and Queensland Certificates of Education will be posted a day earlier by the QCAA. All year twelve students have been informed of the process which needs to be followed for the electronic access of their results.

The completion of tests will be staggered with year twelve block exams occurring from Monday 6 to Friday 10 November. As the last day for attendance by this cohort is Friday 17 November, results must be collated for submission to QCAA as soon as tests are concluded. For the remainder of the school, the final week of term four has been scheduled for testing, with year eleven block exams taking place from Monday 20 to Friday 24 November. It is very important for parents to note that ALL students have a test on Friday 24 November and attendance on this last day is compulsory. Failure to complete tests will have a detrimental effect on a student's level of achievement for semester two.

We rely on your support to ensure that students are able to achieve the best possible results. If you have any enquires about end-of-term tests, please contact me at the college.

Ms Andrea Chiesa
Deputy Principal (Curriculum)

Ms Chiesa, along with Elena Pilat (year eleven), were recently invited to attend the opening of the newly-constructed playground at the Mareeba Hospital. This year's Wheelbarrow Race team donated their fundraising to the Mareeba Friends of the Hospital Foundation. Elena presented the cheque to Committee President, Ms Ida Portella.

SOCIAL SCIENCE AND BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The year nine Civics and Citizenship class will be undertaking a debate in class on Thursday, 12 October 2017. The topic is "Media should be more responsible for the way they portray social groups." Our term topic is "Stereotyping in the media". Two teams have been formed of three speakers each. The affirmative team will argue for the statement. The negative team will argue against the statement.

There is exciting news from the year nine Economic and Business arena, as students are participating in the $20.00 boss programme offered by the Foundation for young Australians. Teams of four to five students have banded together and will come up with a creative business idea by the end of next week. This is a unique and exciting opportunity for students that enables them to:

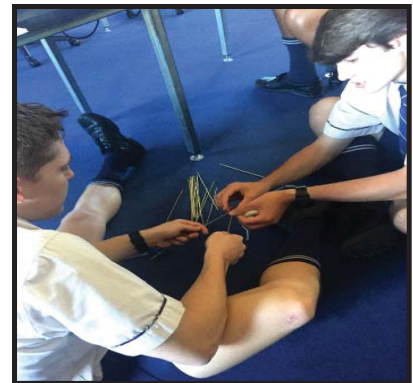

- Participate in an immersive learning experience where they create a real-world business
- Build skills that make them enterprising, including:
 - * Motivation, confidence and resilience
 - * Financial and business literacy
 - * Creativity and courage to experiment
 - * Teamwork and communication
- Understand that businesses can have a social or environmental purpose, and that business is a powerful tool for making the world a better place
- Be inspired to consider self-employment and other entrepreneurial career choices

The students will be trading their products or services during weeks six and seven at school and/or in the community or online. All profits generated will be donated to a local charity. We hope the students, staff, parents and the community support the Economic and Business students in their business ventures.

Mrs Julie Goleby
Business Teacher

There is plenty of theory to be learned in the subject of Business Management, but putting it into practice is much more fun. Year eleven students are using their new leadership qualities by leading teams instead of just managing them, in an experience known as the 'Marshmallow Challenge'. The aim was to build a structure that holds a single marshmallow but using limited resources. Students competed against each other in teams to build the tallest possible structure. It then had to be capable of holding a marshmallow on the top. This is just one of many activities used to allow students to develop their theoretical knowledge into practical skills, thus enhancing their future working career.
